Maja is a coach and trainer who partners with individuals or groups that are experiencing a career or life change. She is a scientist and development professional by training, holding a BS in Pharmacy from the University of Applied Sciences in Wiesbaden, Germany, a Certificate in Professional Human Resource Management from Villanova University and is a Certified Professional Coach through the Institute for Professional Excellence in Coaching (iPEC).

With her international background Maja has lived, worked and traveled globally in the Pharmaceutical, Manufacturing and Environmental Industry for over 20 years. In her scientific roles, she worked in lab and pilot plant settings in technology development, quality control and safety. In her Human Resource roles, she supported the business in recruiting, hiring, employee relations, performance management, career tracks, various assessments, curriculum design and workshop facilitation, leading transformations in support of business objectives. She currently is responsible for Career and Life Leadership Development in her company and delivers seminars as well as transition coaching to help individuals and leaders achieve a higher level of effectiveness.

Maja’s scientific and diverse background along with her holistic approach creates value and delivers results in early talent, professional and leadership development, team building from the ground up to senior level, change & performance management, motivation and continuous improvement.

Maja’s comprehensive transition coaching helps individuals learn to adapt and cope with challenging transitions by tapping into the person’s potential and turn challenges into opportunities for a successful transformation. Coaching is a journey of discovery, growth and expansion as it helps people explore their passions, values, strengths, interests, and core beliefs so they can seize the many opportunities that lie ahead. Maja helps with a smoother, more focused and purposeful transition to reach the ultimate goal of happiness, high energy and increased productivity faster, integrating life and career successfully.

While Maja was born and raised in Germany, she now lives outside of Philadelphia, PA and considers herself a world citizen. She loves to go on outdoor excursions and global travel adventures with her family and friends. She has a passion for helping people, languages and exploring different cultures as well as curling up with a good book. Life motto: Learn something new every day and keep expanding.
